Ender.

The end of tenders.

Ender reads the tender, prices every line item and traces each franc to its page. The estimator makes the call.

The name is «tender» without the t: what is left once the drudgery is gone. The mint square marks the end of the work.

Ender for Equans · Brand guide v1 · October 2026

LOGO

Ender.

Primary, on light

Ender.

On navy

Ender.

One colour

Ender.

One colour, reversed

IBM Plex Sans 600 closed by the mint end mark. Keep clear space equal to the height of the E on every side. Never stretch, recolour or drop the square. Minimum width 72 px / 20 mm.

ICON

The constructed E: three arms as rows of a bill of quantities, the bottom row ending in the mint price cell. White on a navy tile. For favicon, app icon, avatar, and wherever the wordmark would be under 72 px.

COLOUR

Ink
#002439
RGB 0 36 57
Text, headers, logo

Mint
#70BD95
RGB 112 189 149
End mark, accents on navy

Teal
#1B7350
RGB 27 115 80
Links, accent text on light

Paper
#F4F7F6
RGB 244 247 246
Page background

Slate
#4F6875
RGB 79 104 117
Secondary text

TYPOGRAPHY

The end of tenders.

IBM Plex Sans · 700 headlines, 600 titles, 400 text

CHF 2'167'182.94

IBM Plex Mono · amounts, quantities, IDs · Swiss format 1'234.50